the return on investment for putting signage in school zones wasn’t high enough, so instead, she chose to push a large-scale citywide ban to increase revenue.

It was first established in the 1950s by a guy called Dr.