Dispensing pills at pain clinics has become popular as a way to skirt laws that keep track of how many narcotics prescriptions physicians write.

"If utilization stays down, it will have a favorable impact on rates," he said.

Finished basement now somewhat less finished....

Fishers column in Cutis this month is about the perplexing problem of men who can't tolerate their pants.